Digest

Exports Continue to Climb in FY 1992 (see p. 2). The value of U.S. agricultural exports rose $3.7 billion during the first 9 months of fiscal year 1992 (October 1991-June 1992) compared with a year ago, with gains reported for a wide range of commodities and markets. Wheat exports rose more than $1 billion, and gains of about $700 million each were reported for soybeans, animal products, and horticultural products. U.S. agricultural exports to the former Soviet Union rose nearly $1 billion, while exports to Mexico climbed nearly $600 million. Shipments to Canada, Japan, and the European Community each rose more than $300 million.

October-June Imports Top Year-Ago Levels (see p. 5). U.S. agricultural imports for October-June totaled $18.1 billion, up more than $800 million from a year ago. Competitive imports rose 8 percent, noncompetitive products 6 percent, and total imports 5 percent over 1991. Some of the largest increases in 1992 have been in grains and feeds, fruit juices, and some oilseed products. Import growth from Canada and Southeast Asia, especially Thailand and the Philippines, has been particularly strong.

Exports Continue to Climb in FY 1992

The value of U.S. agricultural exports rose $3.7 billion during the first 9 months of fiscal year 1992 (October 1991-June 1992) compared with a year ago, with increases over a wide range of commodities and markets. Wheat exports rose more than $1 billion, and gains of about $700 million each were reported for soybeans, animal products, and horticultural products. U.S. agricultural exports to the former Soviet Union rose nearly $1 billion, while exports to Mexico climbed nearly $600 million. Shipments to Canada, Japan, and the European Community (EC) each rose more than $300 million.

Increased volume and higher prices boosted U.S. wheat exports. Export volume rose 7 million tons to 26.5 million tons during the first 9 months of FY 1992. Since ending stocks of U.S. wheat were relatively low for the 1991/92 crop year, increased export volume helped raise U.S. wheat prices. With domestic prices higher, the average per-ton value of U.S. wheat exported during October-June rose from $105 to $122. The former Soviet Union accounted for much of FY 1992's increase in exports during October-June. Shipments of U.S. wheat to the former Soviet Union rose to 7 million tons in this period, up from about 2 million tons a year ago.

U.S. exports of soybeans rose $650 million, while exports of soybean meal rose $260 million and exports of soybean oil increased $150 million. An upturn in world demand accounted for some of the gain, but the increased U.S. share of world trade was even more important. Soybean supplies fell in the Southern Hemisphere during October-June in FY 1992, permitting the United States to out-compete its largest competitors, Brazil and Argentina.

Largely because of increased soybean sales, exports of all U.S. oilseeds and products to the EC rose $440 million. Exports to Asia increased $230 million, and exports to Latin America climbed $220 million. The former Soviet Union raised its imports by $290 million, boosted by the availability of credit guarantees for purchases from the United States and by relatively reduced supplies in South America. Increased sales of oils and soybean meal lifted U.S. oilseed and product exports to the former Soviet Union, and elsewhere.

U.S. exports of livestock products rose $660 million, with gains for every major animal product except hides and skins. Exports to Mexico were particularly robust, leaping 49 percent for a $330-million gain. Mexico's import liberalization, economic growth, and higher farm-level production costs for livestock products have boosted U.S. exports substantially in the past 2 years. Exports of meat and dairy products to Mexico each climbed nearly $100 million, and exports of live animals, mostly cattle, rose nearly $80 million.

After Mexico, exports to Japan showed the largest increase, gaining $112 million. However, since Japan is by far the largest customer for U.S. livestock products, this was a gain of only 7 percent. Nonetheless, the gain marked the first increase in livestock product exports to Japan since FY 1989. Livestock product exports to Japan rose steadily between FY 1985 and FY 1989, more than doubling. Exports fell slightly in 1990 and 1991 as meat shipments stagnated and hide exports fell.

Hide exports to Japan continued to weaken during the first 9 months of FY 1992, but improving exports of meat more than offset the loss. The United States increased its exports of beef, pork, variety meats, and poultry meat. At $740 million, beef was the largest export of the group, but its increase of less than $10 million lagged the gains of others. Pork exports rose nearly $40 million, variety meats nearly $80 million, and poultry meats $30 million. Large Japanese beef stocks early in FY 1992 and anticipation of an April 1 reduction in Japan's import tariff weakened U.S. beef sales to Japan.

Exports of horticultural products (fruits, nuts, and vegetables) rose $725 million, a 17-percent gain. Gains exceeded $130 million to the EC, Japan, and Other East Asia (Taiwan, Korea, and Hong Kong). Exports to Canada, the largest U.S. market for horticultural products, rose about $110 million. And, exports to Mexico increased by about $75 million, a 63-percent gain that made it the fastest growing major market for U.S. horticultural products and livestock products. ## October-June Imports Top Year-Ago Levels

U.S. agricultural imports for October-June totaled $18.1 billion, up more than $800 million from a year ago. Competitive imports rose 8 percent, noncompetitive products 6 percent, and total imports 5 percent over 1991. Some of the largest increases in 1992 have been in grains and feeds, fruit juices, and some oilseed products. Import growth from Canada and Southeast Asia, especially Thailand and the Philippines, has been particularly strong.

Imports of meat and products were off 8 percent from a year ago. Beef imports reached about $1.5 billion, unchanged from last year, but pork was down almost 30 percent to $470 million. Low domestic pork prices, which reduced demand for EC imports, and disruption of supplies from eastern Europe accounted for the large drop.

Imports of live animals were up by 4 percent. Cattle imports were up 6 percent to $890 million, although volume was down by more than 200,000 head. Swine imports declined by 36 percent, but poultry was up 10 percent. Imports of hides and skins tallied about $150 million, up 23 percent.

Total grain and feed imports amounted to $1.1 billion, up 17 percent over last year. Imports from Canada rose 27 percent to about $530 million on increased shipments of durum wheat, feed corn, and barley. Imports of biscuits and pasta climbed 7 percent to just over $390 million.

Total fruit imports, both fresh and processed, were valued at $1.2 billion, up 10 percent from a year earlier. However, fresh fruit imports advanced only 2 percent to about $790 million. Fruit imports from Chile were virtually unchanged from last year, while those from Mexico were down 3 percent. There was a large increase in apple imports, 25 percent by volume and 85 percent by value, with most of the increase coming from New Zealand. Prepared fruit imports were up 27 percent to $420 million. Canned pineapple, primarily from Thailand and the Philippines, rose 28 percent to $180 million.

Fruit juice imports increased 23 percent to $685 million, although volume slipped 6 percent to just over 20 million hectoliters. Grape juice imports from Canada, Chile, and Brazil, and grapefruit juice from Mexico and Canada showed the largest increases.

Wine and malt beverage imports were up 6 percent to $1.5 billion, but vegetables and nuts declined. Fresh and frozen vegetable imports were $840 million, down 12 percent. Excessive rainfall in Mexico reduced vegetable imports by 15 percent and tomato imports by 50 percent. Imports of processed vegetables were up 6 percent to $860 million, and nut imports totaled $311 million, down 7 percent.

Shipments of oilseeds and products rose 12 percent to over $800 million. Posting the largest increases were sunflowerseeds, oilcake and meal, and coconut, palm kernel, and rapeseed oils.

Noncompetitive imports were $4.4 billion, up about $250 million. The import value of coffee, the largest noncompetitive import at $1.4 billion, declined 1 percent from last year, although import volume was up 15 percent. Banana imports climbed 12 percent to $825 million. Banana shipments from Latin America were about 13 percent ahead of last year, but shipments from Mexico shot up almost 100 percent for the period. Cocoa, tea, rubber, and essential oil imports were also higher than last year. (Joel Greene, Commodity and Trade Analysis Branch, 202-219-0822)
